

Liquid Kidney Remedies Are Saturated With Alcohol.

F. J. CAMPBELL CURED OF "BRICK DUST" DEPOSITS.

Aug. 26, 1903, Mr. Campbell of 1916 Chicago Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., writes: "I have taken two bottles of Kidney-Wort Tablets, which I am happy to tell you have cured me of my kidney trouble from which I had to be up from two or three times every night. Now I can rest without getting up once. I had severe pains in kidneys and back, and I now have no more pains, and I am sure it was through your Kidney-Wort Tablets that I now enjoy good health. My urine that was very dark and showed a deposit resembling brick dust is now clear. I found the Tablets pleasant to take. I carried them with me to my work, and think the one reason why they cured me so quickly is because I never missed taking them each day as often as directed. I am earnestly recommending my friends to use them and to throw away all other remedies."

The demand for Kidney-Wort Tablets, since physicians have begun to order them, has become enormous. The evident advantage of the active, concentrated, non-alcoholic Tablets over all other kidney remedies has turned the attention of thousands of sufferers toward Dr. Pettigill's specific.

Has your urine, your back, your general health led you to wonder if your kidneys are sound? Write Dr. Pettigill, Burlington, Vermont. Give him your symptoms, he will advise you free.

MACEDONIAN SITUATION

Greek Editor's Explanation of the Eastern Trouble.

BEGINNING OF THE INSURRECTION

Constantine D. Phasoularides Says: Reliance on Russia Is Responsible for the Revolution and That Macedonians Are Satisfied With Turkish Rule—Greek Population and Interests Far Exceed Bulgarian.

"The New York newspapers do not seem to understand the Macedonian situation," said Constantine D. Phasoularides, the editor of Thessalonika, the Greek newspaper, recently to a reporter of the New York Commercial Advertiser.

"The trouble in Macedonia began about two years ago, when the Bulgarian revolutionary committee of Sofia was organized. Its object was to expel the Greeks from Macedonia. To carry on the conflict they obtained from wealthy Greeks, by force and blackmail, revolutionary funds. To quote from a pamphlet issued last May by the Society of Hellenism of Athens, 'From December, 1901, to the end of 1902 the Bulgarian committee assassinated about 600 Greek merchants and other wealthy Greeks of Macedonia, and from others by threat and blackmail they raised from £50 to £1,000 ($250 to $5,000) each.'

"By the latest statistics which the Greek government sent to the powers about the racial population of Macedonia, as reported in the New Homera of Trieste, Austria, on Aug. 29, the total population in the vilayet of Monastir, which consists of the districts of Koriza, Dibra, Seres and Elbasan, is 859,100, of whom there are 300,782 Greeks, 174,011 Bulgarians, 14,000 Serbians, 12,000 Romanians, 344,760 Muslims and 4,950 Jews.

"The vilayet of Salonika, which consists of the districts of Serres and Drama, has a population of 1,040,220, of which number there are 348,050 Greeks, 205,880 Bulgarians, 225,514 Muslims and 60,770 of other nationalities, of which number there are 51,000 Jews. Thus it is seen that although the Bulgarians lay claim to Macedonia they are decidedly in the minority.

"According to the statistics of the Bulgarian exarchate itself, there are 55,633 Greek pupils attending the schools in Macedonia and 10,344 Bulgarians. According to the statistics of the Turkish government, fifty-three Greeks to one Bulgarian pay taxes.

"The Greek population is not only the largest, but the most progressive. The British consul in Salonika, writing to his government, said: 'Generally the Greek population in Macedonia is higher in numbers and education than the Bulgarians. They also surpass the Bulgarians in business and commerce. The Greeks, however, are quiet and avoid trouble, hoping that they will get benefit by peace, while the Bulgarians are always ready to commit any crime for their own benefit.'

"Of the Bulgarians fighting in Macedonia today not one has been born in Macedonia. They all make inroads from over the frontier. The people generally are peacefully inclined and prefer to remain under the Turkish protection rather than under the criminal rule of the Bulgarians.

"Of course behind Bulgaria is Russia, who wants to grab everything," to quote from an article written by Prince Mettersky in the Gracchism of St. Petersburg. "If there were not Russian consuls in Macedonia there never would have happened these pitiful things. I am very sure that the revolutionary movement would never have risen so strong in the absence of Russian consuls. We must not forget that Macedonia, Albania and Bulgaria are using every means to force Russia to go to arms against Turkey. I am asking our government, when things are in this condition, what is the use for us to have consuls in Macedonia. If I had the power in the government I would recall all our consuls from there."

"When the actual revolution began about a month ago in Krushovo, according to the Acropolis of Athens and other Greek newspapers, 400 Greeks were slain and the city was ruined. According to the same paper, about thirty Greek villages were destroyed in the vilayet of Monastir. During the conflict of course some of these villages were destroyed by the Turks, who found it necessary to bombard them in order to drive out the Bulgarian revolutionists who were defending themselves there.

"According to the papers published in Philippopolis, none of the Greek merchants there can easily escape the blackmail of the Bulgarians who are practicing the 'money or your life' game.

"We find, then, that the Bulgarians have no right to Macedonia by either numbers or commercial interest. The real wealth of the country is with the Greeks."

TO UPLIFT CRIMINALS.

The New British Home Secretary Plans a Great Work.

With the exception of those who are taking the chief parts in the so-called "fiscal controversy" now raging in England no member of the British cabinet has been more talked of lately than the recently appointed home secretary, the Right Hon. Aretas Akers-Douglas, says the London correspondent of the Washington Post. In his capacity as head of the department of the government which deals with criminals Mr. Akers-Douglas recently laid before parliament a scheme regarding the treatment of wrongdoers which, he hopes, will solve a problem that has been for years agitating the minds of his predecessors. He is going to try to reform the criminal classes so as to make them both within and without the prison citizens. Hitherto prisoners, irrespective of their antecedents, who were sentenced to penal servitude—that is, any term involving confinement for over two years—were put to such unprofitable occupations as picking oakum or breaking stones. The secretary feels that all prisoners are not hopeless cases; hence his new scheme.

Young men serving their first period are to be kept under special observation, and if it is found that the criminal instinct is not strongly developed in them they will be taught some useful trade, which may help them to become respectable citizens on their release. Habitual criminals will also be put to some useful occupation by which they will no longer be a burden on the taxpayer, and if they show no disposition to reform they will be kept in prison for an indefinite period. This feature of the scheme is drastic because it will need a special act of parliament to put it into operation.

Fashions in Furs.

It is time to begin to think of your furs for the winter season. Last season squirrel was a strong rage. It will not be discarded this season, says the New York Evening Journal. Chinchilla fur will be seen a great deal. Possessors of sableskin should feel cheerful, as this fur is to be most fashionable, especially in the shape of boleros with pelerine collars and as carriage wraps mixed with sables. Another style of carriage wrap is full length, having a sort of compromise between the Japanese sleeve and the 1830 pelerine for a sleeve. Sable and ermine are beautiful in this wrap. The moleskin fur is to be worn. The Etou cape of astrakhan or chinchilla must not be forgotten, as it is quite new and modish.

Urges Use of Wicker Work Coffins. Dr. C. A. Lindley of New Haven, Conn., secretary of the state board of health and professor emeritus in Yale Medical college, at a meeting of the Medical association the other day urged the adoption of wicker work coffins instead of metallic caskets, says the Chicago Record-Herald, so as to insure a quicker decomposition of the dead and absorption by the soil, which, after a suitable time, would be again fit for use.

Rich Gravy.

To improve gravy try adding a tablespoonful of cream to brown gravy after thickening it. It is a great improvement. Beef tea is also improved by the addition of a little cream. It softens the flavor and makes it far more palatable for an invalid.

CRUSADE ON MORMONS.

John Alexander Dowrie's Plans to Invade Utah Next Year.

Mormonism is threatened with extinction more absolute than could be attained by any mere legislation, says the Chicago Record-Herald. The innermost fortress of the Mormons at Salt Lake City is to be attacked next year by the legions of John Alexander Dowrie. "Conversion to Zion City tenets" will be the slogan of the Dowrie battle array.

"The restoration hosts will assuredly crusade to Utah in 1904," said one of Dr. Dowrie's deacons the other day. "From Chicago and the neighboring states we will move 3,000 or 4,000 strong. In the west Zion has many followers, and they will be expected to join the army."

The founder of Zion City anticipates a decidedly lively campaign against the settled ranks of Mormonism. He thinks that the trend of affairs will be anything but dull. No secret has been made by Dr. Dowrie of his longings to convert a conversion of the Mormons, and the deeds that they hope to do in the Utah stronghold are constantly being discussed by the citizens of Zion.

After the inquiry of Chicago and New York, Dr. Dowrie, it is understood, believes Salt Lake City to be the worst of remaining wicked American cities. Salt Lake's superlative business, according to Dr. Dowrie, is based not so much on the actual vice there holding sway as on the number of crimes committed, but rather on the practice of Mormonism, which is particularly abhorrent to Zionists.

But the expedition to Salt Lake is only a beginning. It is nothing more than a first battle in a campaign. San Francisco has been chosen as the scene of warfare in 1905, and on it the crusaders will move at that time. It is said that all the cities on the continent, which Dr. Dowrie thinks in need of moral reform and regeneration have been listed, and they will be attacked one by one and year by year in the order of their immorality. It is possible that a foreign expedition to China will be arranged, Dr. Dowrie taking intense interest in the Chinese. When the San Francisco warfare is waged particular attention will be given to Chinamen.

Plan to Increase British Trade.

A project is in course of development for a floating exhibition of British industries which is to make a tour of the British empire, says the London Globe. A specially chartered ship will be fitted up and sent on a protracted voyage, and by this means it is hoped that the claims of British manufacturers will be literally "brought home" to the colonies in all parts of the world.

ELIZABETH GOODRICH

Read How Boston People Were Cured By Quinona.

Mrs. Goodrich, with business rooms in the Hotel Pelham, 74 Boylston St., Boston, Mass., says: "I really have worked very hard to gain the successful business I now have, and about two years ago I broke down under the strain. At that time I was working practically all the time. Long hours at the office days and evenings, planning out new ideas. And then came the collapse. I at first began to have headaches, a thing I had never had before. I could feel my nerves becoming weaker, and that all-dragged-out feeling got hold of me. I just laid to force myself to do my work. Then

I caught a cold and it seemed as though I could never get rid of it altogether. My friends advised me to give up my business and take a long rest. But I did not like to do this. It was then I commenced taking Quinona. The change it made in me was wonderful. I could feel myself grow stronger every day. My headache soon disappeared and my vigor and energy returned. I continued to improve till I became a well and strong woman again. I look and feel better now than ever before." ELIZABETH GOODRICH, Hotel Pelham, 74 Boylston St., Boston, Mass.

Build Up His Run Down System.

Max Gerswinsky, 108 Tremont St., Boston, Mass., says: "I have found Quinona the best preparation I have ever used to build up the run down system. It brought me fresh strength, vitality and good health when I was completely run down. I recommend it to all who are suffering from the effects of overwork or past sickness."

Beneficial to Everyone.

Dr. H. H. Brigham, Fitchburg, Mass., says: "There is no better tonic to prescribe when the system is completely run down than Quinona. It is beneficial to everyone in such a condition."

We want you to call on or write to these people that you may learn more fully the power of Quinona to cure. For this reason we publish letters from Boston people who can be easily reached.

A Chemist Discovers the Secret of Good Health.

For years the best chemists of the country have tried to combine the better properties of the ingredients of Quinona into a soluble, pleasant and palatable preparation. For they realized in so doing they would have the greatest cure for a run down system that could be obtained. But it seemed impossible to accomplish this. In 1893 our chemist did what others failed to do—we have won success, and our successful formula was a revelation to the medical profession. It made it possible for every one in a run down body and mental condition to gain and keep in good health. Up to this year physicians only knew of Quinona. The preparation of Quinona was made possible for us to obtain and advertise this wonderful preparation. Do you wonder we are proud of our success and do not fear to publish our formula. Quinona is the one preparation that will cure. The formula guarantees it.

We Are Proud of the Ingredients Quinona Contains—There Are No Dangerous Drugs.

The analysis of practically all advertised remedies shows a large percentage of alcohol and dangerous drugs. Many people who realize they should take some remedy to build up their run down system hesitate to try them. For this reason we print the formula of Quinona, giving the exact quantities of the ingredients. It can be taken with perfect confidence. Its worth, for you know exactly what you are putting into your stomach. Such ingredients as Mandarins, Nuxvomica, Quinine, Hypophosphate, Edin and Soda, each in itself a valuable remedy when rightly combined as in Quinona, form a preparation that every physician acknowledges will positively cure all cases of extreme nervousness, stomach troubles, etc., and is the exact preparation needed to build up the worn-out system.

The secret of Quinona is the blending together of so many beneficial ingredients to form a soluble, pleasant and palatable preparation.

All people realize the beneficial effects of Quinine, but hesitate to take it for fear of disagreeable effects. In taking Quinona you avoid the risk of taking less than one grain, generally 2-3 or 4 grs. In the prescribed dose of Quinona we guarantee a cure. There is not a grain of Quinona in each dose, such a small quantity that it is absurd to think of it producing the slightest unpleasant effect. It is the combination with the other ingredients which bring out the wonderful curative power in such a small quantity of it and makes it of such great value in Quinona.

42 Days' Treatment for $1.00.

It costs practically nothing to see how quickly Quinona will bring good health to all those suffering from the result of a worn-out and run-down system. Taking Quinona according to the directions there is enough in a $1.00 bottle to last 42 days. Now is the chance to purchase good health for practically nothing. The sooner you start taking Quinona the quicker you will be cured. Avail yourself of the opportunity.

You now have of regaining your health and become the strong, well person that you so wish to be. Every day you put off giving fresh strength and energy to your tired, worn-out system, which is the cause of all your ailments and sickness, just so much weaker your system becomes and so much harder it is to build your health up again. Don't keep nature back any longer, start taking Quinona at once.

LEGISLATION IN ALASKA

Public Sentiment as to Best Form of Government.

TWO FACTIONS IN A MERRY WAR.

One Wants Territorial Government; the Other, Headed by Governor Brady, Opposes It—He Believes the District Should Be More Thoroughly Settled Before It Becomes a Territory or Dons Garb of Statehood.

A special dispatch from Sitka, Alaska, to the New York Tribune says: The spectacle of a horde of statehood boomers urging the claims of their territory to sovereign rights in the Union is common enough, but Alaska presents the anomaly of not being quite sure that she even wants to be a territory. Agitation there is and of a vociferous kind that the territorial form of government should be conferred by congress at once. But there is a strong party, headed by Governor John G. Brady himself, which believes that the district is a mere infant still and should be left for a time longer in its present swaddling clothes. The knee breeches of territorial government and the mainly garb of statehood should not be donned, they say, until their huge land is more thickly settled.

The committee of the United States senate which has been looking into the legislative needs of Alaska this summer has heard a great deal on this particular subject, and its recommendation on this point will be received with great interest. The senators have traveled many thousand miles in the interior and along the coast and have had an exceptional opportunity to learn public sentiment and to examine the facts at first hand.

Meanwhile the merry war between the boomers and the let well enough alone party goes briskly on. The territorialists had a field day at the transmississippi congress which was recently held in Seattle. Poor Governor Brady had no one to back him up, while a dozen or more men identified with Alaska went in hammer and tongs for the change of government.

A. P. Swineford, ex-governor of the district, pointed out some of the abuses of having the laws all made in Washington. "Why," he said, "a woman dressmaker has got to pay a license of $20 a year. I heard of one case where a man who kept a general store sold an official a bottle of arnica liniment. The merchant was thereupon compelled to take out a druggist's license at $50 a year."

John C. Green, for twenty-eight years a resident of Alaska, made these points:

"We feel that we know what laws are best for us and are capable of making them. We don't want to be saddled any longer with the laws of Oregon, which now govern us. We want to elect our own territorial legislature instead of being ruled by cast off politicians."

Don Fletcher of Seattle told how a miner in the interior was attacked with malaria and after much trouble managed to get a bottle of whisky. He paid $5 for it. Information of this coming to a government official, he laid complaint, and the camp of miners which had sold the stuff had to take out a liquor license and to forfeit its whole outfit.

It was further pointed out that Alaska now produced $25,000,000 a year in metals, fish, furs, etc., while it consumed an equal amount of goods from the parent country. If the district were allowed to collect its own revenues of, say, $200,000 a year, half would suffice for expenses and the rest could be used in the internal improvements which were so much needed.

Governor Brady of course believes that Alaska needs more money, but he thinks congress should appropriate it. He pointed out at the Seattle gathering that by the census of 1900 the population was only 63,592, of whom only 30,597 were white. These were scattered over 600,000 square miles. Most of them were in a measure sojourners, as the total number of families was hardly more than 500 or 600.

"The only gain," the governor went on, "would be a delegate in congress. The expense would be much greater, and Alaska is not yet prepared to meet it. Besides, the territorial form of government is unsatisfactory to many of those who live under it."

It must be said that there is considerable support for Mr. Brady among business men. One of them, who has been in Sitka many years, said:

"Of course we should like a delegate at Washington. He would have no vote, but we should feel that we were a little more a part of the country if there were some one entitled to express our needs and wishes. But this we might have without becoming a territory. The merchants generally want to have things continue as at present. We believe that in a few years Alaska will have grown so in people and wealth that congress will gladly take us into statehood without making us pass through the purgatory of territorial government. Some would be politicians are anxious to get offices, and they want the change."

"Just see how difficult it would be to get representative men to go to the legislature. Some of them would have to travel thousands of miles to the capital. The substantial citizens are too much occupied to be able to leave their business for so long. Then Alaska has little taxable property. A simply ruinous tax rate would be necessary to raise the money to run the government. No; we are well satisfied to remain entirely in the hands of congress, especially as the committee of senators has studied the situation for itself this summer."

Fibroid Tumors Cured

Note the result of Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine.

"Some time ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and today I am a well woman."

"The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk miles now."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. HAYES, 253 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.—$5.00 per bottle if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Mountains of gold could not purchase such testimony—or take the place of the health and happiness which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought to Mrs. Hayes.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women: all ovarian troubles; tumors; inflammations; ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb; backache; irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation. Surely the volume and character of the testimonial letters we are daily printing in the newspapers can leave no room for doubt in the minds of fair people.

PENNY BATHS FOR THE POOR

A Plan From Bonn on the Rhine to Benefit Chicago.

Floating bath houses will dot the Chicago river next summer, and the poor will have a chance to keep clean at the rate of 1 cent a bath, says the Chicago Chronicle. Henry E. Weaver will find the money to build the barges, buy the towels and the first cargo of soap, and the bath houses will be expected to pay for their keeping after that. But this is not all. Artistic fountains will adorn the ghetto district, and it will be Mr. Weaver's money that will build at least one of these.

"In Europe fresh running water does much to make the cities attractive," said Mr. Weaver. "Why should not the same be true in Chicago?"

The bath scheme comes from Bonn on the Rhine. "They have floating bath houses there that measure 40 by 100 feet," said Mr. Weaver. "Thousands bathe during the season, and the inhabitants, no matter how poor they may be, are always clean. The advisability of a floating bath house may be readily seen. Sometimes the poor will not travel far to bathe, but bring the means to their doors, and it is a different matter. The barges are moored to the bank and remain until the inhabitants of one section of the city are clean. Then they float down the river to another point. The charge of 1 cent will pay the cost of keeping the baths. The water in the Chicago river is plenty good enough to bathe in."

The New French Coins.

Samples of the new French nickel coins were stamped recently and look very neat, says a Paris cable dispatch to the New York Herald. They are of pure metal. The design consists of the head of a figure representing the republic, very graceful in outline, without any ornamentation on the reverse. The new coins have a great advantage over the heavy copper coins. The metal, being more durable, will last longer than silver, and the figures are not easily effaced. The mint has begun coining them for general use.

Oaks and Beeches.

The threads of fungus which flourish upon the roots of oaks and beeches surrounded by decaying leaf mold turn the latter into nourishment for the trees, and the seedlings of the trees are unable to grow and such surroundings will ruin the old of the fungi.
